5 p.m. – community picnic, art event, artist talk and video screening

In 1979, Vancouver artist Evelyn Roth created a participatory spectacle at the Burnaby Art Gallery. Indoor gallery installations, combined with eight outdoor events showcased her crocheted webs for children, recycled videotape installations and inflatables. Thirty years later, Roth situates these events as the flashpoint from which her international career as an artist emerged. "Bear Ice", Roth's latest inflatable, site specific installation has been created specifically for the Burnaby Art Gallery and celebrates over 30 years of the artist's career of creating art with a message.

On July 23, Roth returns to Deer Lake Park for an artist's picnic, talk, collaborative art project and video screening to celebrate the anniversary of the spectacle thirty years ago. Bring your own picnic, family's welcome. Free event.

At Bob Prittie Library
